EUGENE WARREN, Appellant,
v.
BARRY THOMAS, Appellee

CIVIL PROCEDURE / TRIAL

The standard of review for an appellate court examining jury instructions given by a trial court is a clear abuse of discretion or an error of law controlling the outcome of the case.

CIVIL PROCEDURE / TRIAL

When an appellate court reviews jury instructions, an error in a charge renders the charge inadequate and therefore sufficient ground for a new trial if the charge in its entirety misleads or confuses rather than clarifies a material issue, or there is a fundamental omission in the charge and such omission proves prejudicial.

*ACTS OR OMISSIONS CONSTITUTING NEGLIGENCE /
OPERATION OF VEHICLES*

The assured clear distance ahead rule requires a driver to control a vehicle so that it can stop within the distance of whatever may reasonably be expected to be within the driver's path.

*ACTS OR OMISSIONS CONSTITUTING NEGLIGENCE /
OPERATION OF VEHICLES*

The sudden emergency doctrine provides a defense to a driver whom is not careless or reckless but suddenly and unexpectedly finds him or herself in a dangerous situation with little or no opportunity to gain control, and while unable to use his or her best judgment, does use an honest exercise of judgment in such circumstances.

CIVIL PROCEDURE / POINTS FOR CHARGE

A trial court may charge on both the assured clear distance ahead rule and the sudden emergency doctrine where the facts in a case do not render the rules mutually exclusive and where evidence could lead reasonable minds to differ as to the existence of a sudden emergency.

CIVIL PROCEDURE / TRIAL

When an appellate court reviews a refusal to give a specific jury instruction, the court must determine only whether the factual record supports the trial court's decision not to charge on a particular principle of law.

CIVIL PROCEDURE / POST-TRIAL MOTIONS

When reviewing a motion for Judgment Notwithstanding Verdict on appeal, the appellate court must consider the evidence through the sieve of the jury's deliberations and in the light most favorable to the verdict winner, affording him or her the benefit of every reasonable inference of fact, and with any conflict or doubt resolved in his or her favor.

CIVIL PROCEDURE / POST-TRIAL MOTIONS

A court may enter a Judgment Notwithstanding Verdict in two circumstances: one, all factual inferences decided adverse to the movant still require a verdict in his favor; and two, no two reasonable minds could disagree the outcome should have been rendered in the favor of the movant.

IN THE COURT OF COMMON PLEAS OF ERIE COUNTY,
 PENNSYLVANIA CIVIL DIVISION NO. 10771 of 2007

Appearances: Michael J. Koehler, Esq., Attorney for Appellant
 Stephen J. Magley, Esq., Attorney for Appellee

MEMORANDUM OPINION¹

DiSantis, Ernest J., Jr., J. Feb. 18, 2010

Appellant, Eugene Warren, appeals from the judgment entered in the Court of Common Pleas of Erie County in favor of Appellee, Barry Thomas, following the denial of Appellant's Motion for Post-Trial Relief. Based upon the following analysis, this Court respectfully requests that the judgment be affirmed.

I. Background of the Case²

This matter involves a rear-end motor vehicle accident, which occurred on March 2, 2005, at the intersection of East 38th and Wallace streets, in the City of Erie. On that date, Appellee was traveling westbound on East 38th Street. Due to the snowy conditions resulting from a lake effect snowstorm, Appellee and other vehicles were traveling at a slow rate of speed and maintaining distance between each vehicle. N.T. Trial (Day Two), 10/19/09, at 8. When Appellee approached the intersection of East 38th and Wallace Streets, the traffic signal turned yellow and the Appellant, who was traveling in front of Appellee, activated his brake lights to stop his vehicle. Id., at 9. In response, the Appellee, who was traveling eight or ten miles per hour, started to brake but began sliding due to the slick roads. Id., at 9, 11. As he was pumping his brakes, he slid into the rear of Appellant's vehicle. Id. Up until that point, Appellee had no problem stopping or slowing his vehicle, in spite of the weather conditions. *Id.*³

Appellant instituted suit by filing a Writ of Summons on February 26, 2007. On July 17, 2007, Appellant filed a Complaint, alleging that while he was stopped in the westbound lane at a red light at the intersection of 38th and Wallace Streets, Appellee's vehicle struck him from behind. Complaint, 07/17/07, at ¶¶ 3-4. Appellant claimed Appellee was negligent, careless, and reckless in the following respects: (1) Appellee collided with the rear of Appellant's vehicle; (2) Appellee was driving at an excessive rate of speed under the circumstances; (3) Appellee did not have his vehicle under proper and reasonable control; (4) Appellee was inattentive to other vehicles when he proceeded into the intersection; (5) Appellee was incompetent to drive; (6) Appellee was inattentive and failed to keep a proper lookout; and, (7) Appellee failed to comply with the Pennsylvania Motor Vehicle Code, specifically 75 Pa.C.S.A. § 3361 (driving vehicle at safe speed). Id., at 5 (a)-(g). On August 10, 2007, Appellee filed an Answer and New Matter. Appellant filed a Reply to New Matter on July 11, 2008.

² The Court's factual background is derived from the transcribed "excerpts" of the jury trial. The Appellant did not order the entire trial transcript.

³ At trial, Appellant testified he was stopped at the light when he was struck by Appellee. N.T. Trial (Day Two), 10/19/09, at 15.

On October 16, 2009, a jury trial commenced and both parties testified as to their versions of events.⁴ On October 20, 2009, the jury found that Appellee was not negligent. On October 30, 2009, Appellant filed Motions for Post-Trial Relief, which this Court denied on November 30, 2009.

On December 21, 2009, Appellant filed a Notice of Appeal. On December 22, 2009, the Court ordered Appellant to file concise statement of the matters complained of on appeal, pursuant to Pa.R.A.P. 1925. On January 8, 2010 Appellant filed his Concise Statement of Matters Complained pursuant to Pa.R.A.P. 1925 (b). In his 1925 (b) statement, Appellant claims the Court erred by: (1) instructing the jury on the sudden emergency doctrine; (2) failing to instruct the jury as to Appellant's supplemental jury instructions; and, (3) denying Appellant's Motion for Judgment Notwithstanding the Verdict. Appellant's Concise Statement of Matters Complained, 01/08/10, at 1-3.

II. Legal Discussion

A. Whether the trial court erred in instructing the jury on the Sudden Emergency Doctrine?

An appellate court's standard of review regarding jury instructions is as follows:

In examining these instructions, our scope of review is to determine whether the trial court committed clear abuse of discretion or error of law controlling the outcome of the case. Error in a charge is sufficient ground for a new trial, if the charge as a whole is inadequate or not clear or has a tendency to mislead or confuse rather than clarify a material issue. A charge will be found adequate unless the issues are not made clear to the jury or the jury was palpably misled by what the trial judge said or unless there is an omission in the charge which amounts to fundamental error. A reviewing court will not grant a new trial on the ground of inadequacy of the charge unless there is a prejudicial omission of something basic or fundamental. In reviewing a trial court's charge to the jury, we must not take the challenged words or passage out of context of the whole of the charge, but must look to the charge in its entirety.

Stewart v. Motts, 539 Pa. 596, 654 A.2d 535, 540 (1995) (internal citations and quotation marks omitted).

Appellant argues that Appellee failed to request the sudden emergency doctrine in writing, and made the request after final argument by the parties on their submitted points for charge. Moreover, Appellant claims that Appellee failed to argue in his closing that a sudden emergency existed.⁵ He asserts that there was no evidence of a sudden emergency, and the Court should not have given the instruction which, he asserts, prejudiced him. Furthermore, Appellant claims that the parties indicated in their respective pre-trial narrative statements that liability was conceded and a formal stipulation would be offered at time of trial.⁶

One of the primary duties of a trial judge is to clarify the issues so that the jury may understand the questions to be resolved. Smith v. Clark, [411 Pa. 142, 147, 190 A.2d 441 (1963)]. A trial judge is charged with the responsibility of defining all pertinent questions of law. All issues which are relevant to the pleadings and proof may become the subject of a jury instruction. Although a certain burden rests on the litigants to submit written points for charge to the court requesting instructions on their theories of the case, it is the duty of the trial judge fully to instruct the jury as to the law applicable to the facts even in the absence of a request by the parties. Perigo v. Deegan, 431 A.2d 303, 306 (Pa. Super. 1981). While we recognize that a trial judge should not take on the responsibilities of an advocate and introduce theories not raised by the parties, Hrivnak v. Perrone, 472 Pa. 348, 372 A.2d 730 (1977), in certain instances it is correct for the court to charge on questions of law not specifically requested by the parties. Rosato v. Nationwide Insurance Co., 397 A.2d 1238 (Pa. Super. 1979).

⁵ The Appellant did not request that the closing arguments be transcribed.

⁶ The transcribed excerpts from the trial do not indicate that Appellee stipulated to negligence. Appellant appears to be referring to a settlement discussion that took place at the status/settlement conference. This was not recorded and is not part of the record. Furthermore, settlement statements are not admissions. In addition, at trial, Appellee conceded only that his vehicle struck the Appellant's vehicle and Appellant was injured. However, he denied liability given the circumstances.

Berry v. Friday, 472 A.2d 191, 193-94 (Pa. Super. 1984) (internal footnotes and quotation marks omitted).

In Lockhart v. List, 542 Pa. 141, 665 A.2d 1176 (Pa. 1995), the Pennsylvania Supreme Court discussed the principles of both the sudden emergency doctrine and assured clear distance ahead rule. It found that:

. . . In short, the assured clear distance ahead rule simply requires a driver to control the speed of his or her vehicle so that he or she will be able to stop within the distance of whatever may reasonably be expected to be within the driver's path.

The sudden emergency doctrine, on the other hand, is available as a defense to a party who suddenly and unexpectedly finds him or herself confronted with a perilous situation which permits little or no opportunity to apprehend the situation and act accordingly. The sudden emergency doctrine is frequently employed in motor vehicle accident cases wherein a driver was confronted with a perilous situation requiring a quick response in order to avoid a collision. The rule provides generally, that an individual will not be held to the "usual degree of care" or be required to exercise his or her "best judgment" when confronted with a sudden and unexpected position of peril created in whole or in part by someone other than the person claiming protection under the doctrine. The rule recognizes that a driver who, although driving in a prudent manner, is confronted with a sudden or unexpected event which leaves little or no time to apprehend a situation and act accordingly should not be subject to liability simply because another perhaps more prudent course of action was available. Rather, under such circumstances, a person is required to exhibit only an honest exercise of judgment. The purpose behind the rule is clear: a person confronted with a sudden and unforeseeable occurrence, because of the shortness of time in which to react, should not be held to the same standard of care as someone confronted with a foreseeable occurrence. It is important to recognize, however, that a person cannot avail himself of the protection of this doctrine if that person was himself driving carelessly or recklessly.

Lockhart, 665 A.2d at 1180 (citations and footnotes omitted).

As to whether a trial court may charge on both doctrines, the List Court concluded that, ". . . while it may be that given the particular facts presented, the doctrine of sudden emergency and that of assured clear distance ahead would be mutually exclusive, the facts in another case may not conclusively demonstrate that exclusivity, rendering a charge on both doctrines appropriate." Id., at 1183. In addition, "where the evidence is such that reasonable minds could differ as to whether a sudden emergency existed, both charges should be given." Id. See also, Levey v. DeNardo, 555 Pa. 514, 725 A.2d 733 (Pa. 1999).

Here, the evidence reflected that prior to the accident, Appellee did not experience problems either stopping or driving on the roadway. Although he was aware of Appellant's vehicle and was operating his vehicle in a prudent manner, the Appellee was confronted with a situation in which he could not avoid impact with the Appellant's vehicle. Because reasonable minds could differ as to whether Appellee was negligent or if a sudden emergency was present, this Court instructed the jury on both the sudden emergency doctrine and assured clear distance ahead rule.

Although the jury asked to be re-instructed on the sudden emergency doctrine and negligence, it is not possible to divine the basis of its decision. It may have ignored the sudden emergency doctrine and based its verdict upon the theory that the incident occurred in Erie County, a snowy locale, and that the Appellee simply was, not negligent given the conditions at the time. Appellant's claim is based solely upon his supposition of the basis of the verdict.⁷

B. Whether the trial court erred in refusing to instruct the jury on Appellant's proposed supplemental jury instructions?

[I]n reviewing a claim regarding the refusal of a court to give a specific instruction, it is the function of this Court to determine whether the record supports the trial court's decision. The law is clear that a trial court is bound to charge only on that law for which there is some factual support in the record. We note further that it is not the function of the trial court in charging a jury to advocate, but rather to explain the principles of law which are fairly raised under the facts of a particular case so as to enable the jury to comprehend the questions it must decide.

Lockhart, 665 A.2d at 1179 (internal citations omitted).

Here, the Appellant's proposed supplemental jury instructions were as follows:

⁷ To the extent Appellant is asserting that this Court acted as an advocate by giving the instruction, his claim is meritless See Rosato, supra. at 1240-41. Moreover, by requesting that this Court charge on the assured clear distance rule, Appellant invited the sudden emergency charge.

Negligence:

1. Under the Assured Clear Distance rule in the Motor Vehicle Code, 75 Pa.C.S.A§ 3361 (Driving Vehicle at Safe Speed) a driver must take into account weather conditions that affect his ability to stop, such as wet, icy or slippery road surfaces. Fish v. Gosnell, 463 A.2d 1042 (Pa. Super, 1983)

Accepted: _____

Rejected: _____

2. Motorist driving on a slippery street is bound to consider the condition of the street and reduce his speed to the point where he can control his automobile. Matzasoszki v. Jacobson 186 A. 227 (Pa. Super. 1936)

Accepted: _____

Rejected: _____

3. Sudden slowing or stopping of vehicle ahead must be anticipated by driver. Bohner v. Stine, 463 A.2d 438 (Pa, Super. 1983)

Accepted: _____

Rejected: _____

Plaintiff's Proposed Supplemental Jury Instructions.

At trial, the Court instructed the jury as to Sections 3310 and 3361 of the Motor Vehicle Code (following too closely and driving vehicle at safe speed). This covered the first request. As to the remaining requests, this Court's instruction adequately covered the relevant legal principles that the jury was bound to consider.

C. Whether the Court erred in denying Appellant's Motion for Judgment Notwithstanding Verdict?

On appeal, the standard by which the appellate court reviews the denial of a post-trial motion for, JNOV and/or a new trial is as follows:

In reviewing a motion for [JNOV], the evidence must be considered in the light most favorable to the verdict winner, and he must be given the benefit of every reasonable inference of fact arising therefrom, and any conflict in the evidence must be resolved in his favor. Moreover, a [JNOV] should only be entered in a clear case and any doubts must be resolved in favor of the verdict winner. Further, a judge's appraisal of evidence is not to be based on how he would have voted had he been a member of the jury, but on the facts as they come through the sieve of the jury's deliberations.

There are two bases upon which a [JNOV] can be entered: one, the movant is entitled to judgment as a matter of law, and/or two, the evidence was such that no two reasonable minds could disagree that the outcome should have been rendered in favor of the movant. With the first a court reviews the record and concludes that even with all factual inferences decided adverse to the movant the law nonetheless requires a verdict in his favor, whereas with the second the court reviews the evidentiary record and concludes that the evidence was such that a verdict for the movant was beyond peradventure.

Similarly, when reviewing the denial of a motion for new trial, we must determine if the trial court committed an abuse of discretion or error of law that controlled the outcome of the case.

Estate of Hicks v. Dana Companies, LLC, 984 A.2d 943,950-51 (Pa. Super. 2009)(en banc) (internal citations omitted).

Appellant argues the verdict was improper, against the weight of the evidence, and "no reasonable person could fail to agree that the verdict was improper and [Appellee] was negligent." Appellant's 1925 (b) statement, at 3. It was not for this court to substitute its judgment for that of the jury on questions of credibility and weight accorded evidence at trial. Therefore, reviewing the record in the light most favorable to the verdict winner, a grant of JNOV would not have been appropriate.

III. CONCLUSION

Based upon the above, this Court respectfully requests that judgment be affirmed.

Respectfully submitted,
/s/ Ernest J. DiSantis, Jr., Judge
